Desktop Mapping

Desktop Mapping is a completely new service that we are offering in response to requests from our clients. The normal Utility Report, delivered in paper form, will comprise large maps, various print outs and letters. The client has to manage all this paper data.

Desktop Mapping pulls all this data onto one electronic plan. The site is shown on an Ordnance Survey (DXF) background with the various utilities' apparatus and operations clearly redrawn and overlaid. The relationships between the various pipes and cables with the built environment can be more easily understood. Areas of concern can clearly be seen, you may wish to then target these specific areas with further on site investigation saving you time and money.

The Desktop Mapping option is available with our standard Utility Report. The client receives all the paper documents, a DXF plan of the site containing all the mapped utility apparatus utilities also mapped that can be loaded to your chosen CAD tool and a PDF plan of the combined map as example is show above.

The report will be a powerful preplanning tool, giving a clear view of expected services affecting your site all on one single electronic plan.

Prices for Desktop Mapping start at £525 exc VAT, please contact us for a quote.
